

Hack Is Back — With "Circle" Gals

SGT. DAVID HACK, super promoter of the U.S. Army and Tallmadge recruiter, shows the fringe benefits of enlistment to Harold Terrence McElvenny, one of his newest enlistees. No, the girls don't go with the deal, but they represent one way to put the Army in fine shape. You may recognize the girls from the photos on facing page as "Tallmadge Circle" elves. Wearing "Sgt. Hack Wants You" T-shirts are, left to right: Eileen Bluhm, treasurer; Julie Lythgoe, reporter; Dorothy Taiclet, typesetter; Tanalynne Sickafoose, ad. coordinator; and Suzanne Holmes, city editor. (Incidentally, don't forget to make your nomination for the "Miss Tallmadge T-Shirt" contest. Judging will be Nov. 15, 8 p.m., at Chapel Hill Mall, and nominations should be made before then. Judges will be Police Chief Michael Dremak, Sgt. Hack, and "Circle" editor Ron Taiclet).
